Life-changing adaptations for homes

WCC have recently accommodated a Stanmore couple into a new Council home with special adaptations to improve their quality of life, and this is the basis of our refreshed Housing Strategy.

There is a grant programme for disabled residents and WCC has agreed to double its spending on adapting residents' homes as part of its bid to improve the level of choice available to local people. As well as helping Council tenants by installing disabled adaptations they are investing more than £1m through the Disabled Facilities Grant each year to support residents to live in the community. This can involve extending properties to help disabled and vulnerable residents to be able to continue to live independently and avoid the disruption, distress and expense of being placed in care homes or needing hospital stays. Grants are also available for private home owners.

Residents can apply to the Council for Disabled Facilities Grant assistance by emailing PrivateSectorHousing@winchester.gov.uk and calling 01962 848 455.

Winchester (and Alresford) - the gin capital

Always drink responsibly, but this is a real celebration of local businesses to Alresford!

Britain's appreciation for gin is on the rise – and locally this has been evidenced as 250 tickets to the Mid-Hants Railway Watercress Line's 'Gin Train' event sold out in just two minutes. Passengers enjoyed cocktails created by official partner, Winchester Distillery using local Twisted Nose Gin, whilst travelling in style on the steam train through the rolling countryside of the South Downs National Park. Food offering was by Pulpo Negro. And of course, passengers could use the improved bus service to get to and from the event. We have our own distillery in Old Alresford. And of course, The Naked Grape stocks local gins, as well as numerous other local brews.

As I say though, drink responsibly but enjoy your local produce and celebrate what our Ward has to offer.

Council asks public to be 'dragons'!

A new business innovation fund is being launched by WCC, giving members of the public the opportunity to vote on which innovative business ideas the council should fund.

The fund is aimed at small businesses located within the Winchester District. It will focus on innovation and the creation of new business ideas, services and projects – and the awards will be in the region of £1,500 per business. Businesses have until 30 June 2018 to apply by completing an online application form and providing their business plan and cash flow forecasts. They will then produce a three minute online pitch to market their innovative idea to the public. Winchester City Council residents and businesses will vote over the summer for the ideas they would like to fund, with the final decisions being made in early autumn.

For further information on the business innovation fund, online application form and full eligibility criteria visit: www.winchester.gov.uk/business-innovation-fund or email businessgrants@winchester.gov.uk
